

Community Support You Can Hear Every Day

At De Young Properties, we strive to enhance our community's quality of life in many ways, including our support of Valley Public Radio.

Incorporated in 1975, Valley Public Radio provides classical music, cultural arts, National Public Radio news and innovative local programming to listeners throughout the San Joaquin Valley...all to expand our awareness of the world around us.

Valley Public Radio relies on the local community for many aspects of its operation, including the valued volunteers who help with fundraising events, on-air membership campaigns and mailings. As part of the community being served by Valley Public Radio, De Young Properties believes it's our responsibility to support this vital communications link to the Central Valley. "Valley Public Radio is pleased to have partners like De Young Properties who care about the Quality of Life...working together we make a difference", stated Mariam Stepanian, Valley Public Radio's President/General Manager.

Often times, Valley Public Radio introduces listeners to news and information of which they would otherwise be unaware, making it more than just another radio station on the dial, but truly a window to the world.

De Young Properties is proud to support Valley Public Radio in its mission to be "your cultural connection to the world." And we encourage you to support this valuable community resource as well.
